COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is concerned with the theoretical paradigm and historical realities of totalitarianism in its Communist, Fascist, and National Socialist varieties. Combining a chronological survey with direct comparison of key elements defining the Soviet, Italian, and German regimes alike, particular attention will be given to the 'cult of leadership,' territorial expansion and war, everyday life under totalitarian rule, propaganda, genocide and mass murder, and terror, coercion, and popular support. From their ideological origins to violent collapse, we will trace the convoluted path of these radical governments in order to explain their domestic and foreign impact, and to understand how so many Europeans came to accept and follow such destructive regimes. In addition to lectures and readings, students will experience film, photographs, radio, art, and literature.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

1. Acquire a critical understanding of the totalitarian regimes in Germany, Italy, and the Soviet Union, and the implications that they had for the political, military, social, and cultural development of twentieth-century Europe and the world.
2. Develop an intimate understanding of how the cultures, values, and ideologies of ordinary Europeans were impacted by these three totalitarian regimes.
3. Identify and interpret multiple perspectives of historical events.
4. Engage in careful analysis of primary and secondary source materials.
5. Employ critical thinking and research skills in order to challenge assumptions about the world wars, communism, fascism, and Nazism.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Course Component	Value	Deadline
Document Analysis	20%	July 14
Research Proposal	5%	July 24
Research Paper	40%	August 9
Group Discussions	5%	Throughout course (July 7, 14, 26, August 6, 16)
Final Exam	30%	August 19 (distributed August 16)

Apart from the group discussions, ALL assignments and exams must be completed in order to pass the course.

Deadlines are firm. Late work will be penalized unless it is accompanied by a written medical excuse filled out, or signed, by a medical professional, or certification by a provincially chartered social worker or psychologist, or by a psychiatrist stating that other unavoidable, non-medical circumstances have made it impossible for you to complete your work within the prescribed deadline. There is a penalty of half a letter grade per day for late assignments, and after five days, the grade F is assigned. Extensions will only be granted for documented medical reasons.

Students are permitted to take notes during class on a computer so long as it does not disturb the work of other students. If you wish to record the lectures, for whatever reason, please speak with me first.

REQUIRED TEXTS

1. Robert W. Winks and R.J.Q. Adams. Europe, 1890-1945: Crisis and Conflict. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2003.
2. Robert Paxton. The Anatomy of Fascism. New York: Vintage Books, 2004.
3. A number of articles, chapter excerpts, and primary documents will also be assigned. They are all open-source materials (i.e. not under copyright) and available online. Hyperlinks to these readings are in the lecture schedule printed below.

DETAIL OF EVALUATION

ASSIGNMENT #1: DOCUMENT ANALYSIS

Value: 20% of course mark

Due Date: July 14

Documents (or links to the documents) will be posted on Blackboard and you will choose ONE to analyze. It would be best if you chose one in the area you plan to do your research paper on, but it is up to you to decide. The analysis should be 1,000 words (about 4 pages).

The objective of a document analysis is to identify, interpret, and contextualize the content of a primary document. By definition, a primary document is anything written/recorded/photographed/painted/etc. at the time of the event in question, or, as in the case of memoirs, by people present at the event although written after the fact. Newspaper articles, journal entries, letters, war diaries, memos, and after action reports, for example, are all considered primary documents.

When analyzing a document, you will be required to answer the following questions, utilizing other sources to contextualise your document when necessary. In doing so, you will draw out the core themes presented in the document:

1. What is the origin and context of the document?
2. What is the purpose of the document?
3. What are the limitations of the document as a historical source?

Further information on the document analysis assignment will be provided in class.

ASSIGNMENT #2: RESEARCH PROPOSAL

Value: 5% of course mark

Due Date: July 24

This assignment is designed to help you come up with an arguable thesis for your research paper. When you write a research paper for a university course, it is essential that your entire paper be written to defend an argument rather than merely report on the evidence you have uncovered or to piece together a narrative (story). The linchpin of your paper is the Thesis Statement: a clear and precise statement of your central argument. For this assignment, you will turn in a thesis and a one paragraph explanation of your argument—why you chose it, what evidence you will consult, etc. You must also include a bibliography of at least FIVE books (not including the course texts), or the equivalent in academic articles (about two articles is the equivalent of one book).

Further information on the research proposal assignment will be provided in class.

ASSIGNMENT #3: RESEARCH PAPER

Value: 40% of course mark

Due Date: August 9

The research paper should be ~2,500 words (about 8-10 double-spaced pages) in length and be drawn from some or all of the most important works relevant to the topic. You must make use of a reasonable number of different sources—at least FIVE books, or the equivalent in academic articles (about two articles is the equivalent of one book). The course textbooks do NOT count toward this total. In most cases you will also be able to use primary sources, which are available in many forms in the university library and on the library website.

Further information on the research paper assignment will be provided in class.

GROUP DISCUSSIONS

Vale: 5% of course mark

Throughout the course: July 7, 14, 26, August 6, and 16

There will be five group work sessions throughout the semester. Students will be expected to read a number of primary documents for each session and come to class prepared to discuss the topic under review. These sessions will begin with a short lecture by the instructor followed by small group discussions (3-4 students per group). Within these groups, students will answer a series of questions distributed beforehand by the instructor.

The five group discussion topics (and dates) are listed below:

1. Marxism vs. Leninism (July 7)
2. Consolidating Political and Economic Power (July 14)
3. Violence (July 26)
4. "Exorcising" Totalitarianism (August 6)
5. Totalitarianism Revisited (August 16)

FINAL EXAM

Value: 30% of course mark

Due date: August 19 (distributed August 16)

This written exam will include material from the entire course and will require the student to respond to two essay questions. This will be a take-home exam and the student will have three days to complete and submit the exam.

Further information on the final exam will be provided in class.

General Information and Requirements for Written Assignments

All assignments are to be turned in by hard copy no later than 4:00pm on the due date, either in-class or dropped in the red box located outside the Main Office of the Department of History (SS656).

All written assignments must be typed, double-spaced, Times New Roman, and size 12 font.

Your name and student number must clearly appear on the first page of every written assignment. No title page is necessary.

The Internet is full of misleading and historically inaccurate information. You may not use web sites as secondary sources for your papers in this course. You may use scholarly journal articles and books that are published in paper form but available online. If you have a question about a web-based research sources, please speak with me first.

The Department of History's "Short Guide to Writing History Essays" is available on the department website (<http://hist.ucalgary.ca/sites/hist.ucalgary.ca/files/EssayHandbook1.pdf>) to help you with your writing, structure, citations, etc. Your work MUST conform to department guidelines.

Footnotes

Your research paper must include references to acknowledge the ideas and views of the authors whose works you have used. You will present references as footnotes (at the bottom of each page). This course favours the following system of referencing:

Book (single author)

Later references would contract this to: Gellately, Lenin, Stalin, and Hitler, 122.

Book (multiple authors)

<sup>2</sup> Michael Geyer and Sheila Fitzpatrick, Beyond Totalitarianism: Stalinism and Nazism Compared (Cambridge, UK: Cambridge University Press, 2008), 22-35.

Article in edited collection

<sup>4</sup> Omer Bartov, "German Workers, German Soldiers," in Nazism and German Society, 1933-1945, ed. David Crew (London: Routledge, 1994), 79.

Later references would be: Payne, "Fascist Italy and Spain, 1922-45," 103.

Bibliographies

All books and articles that you consult should be listed in a bibliography at the end of your paper on a separate page. The module favours the following system of referencing:

The box is emptied promptly at 8:30 a.m. and at 4:00 p.m. Monday to Friday.

Departmental Grading System:

The following percentage-to-letter grade conversion scheme has been adopted for use in all Canadian Studies, History, and Latin American Studies courses.

Percentage	Letter Grade	Grade Point Value	Description
90-100	A+	4.00	Outstanding
85-89	A	4.00	Excellent—superior performance showing comprehensive understanding of subject matter.
80-84	A-	3.70
77-79	B+	3.30
73-76	B	3.00	Good—clearly above average performance with knowledge of subject matter generally complete.
70-72	B-	2.70
67-69	C+	2.30
63-66	C	2.00	Satisfactory—basic understanding of the subject matter.
60-62	C-	1.70	Receipt of a grade point average of 1.70 may not be sufficient for promotion or graduation.
56-59	D+	1.30	Minimal pass—marginal performance; generally insufficient preparation for subsequent courses in the same subject.
50-55	D	1.00
0-49	F	0	Fail—unsatisfactory performance or failure to meet course requirements.

Plagiarism:

Plagiarism occurs when one submits or presents one's work in a course, or ideas and/or passages in a written piece of work, as if it were one's own work done expressly for that particular course, when, in fact, it is not. As noted in The History Student's Handbook, plagiarism may take several forms:

- Failure to cite sources properly may be considered plagiarism. This could include quotations, and wording used from another source but not acknowledged.
- Borrowed, purchased, and/or ghostwritten papers are considered plagiarism, as is submitting one's own work for more than one course without the permission of the instructor(s) involved.

- Extensive paraphrasing of one or a few sources is also considered plagiarism, even when notes are used, unless the essay is a critical analysis of those works.
- The use of notes does not justify the sustained presentation of another author's language and ideas as one's own.

Plagiarism is a serious academic offence and written work that appears to contain plagiarized passages will not be graded. All such work will be reported to the Faculty of Arts' associate deans of students who will apply the penalties specified in the University of Calgary Calendar.

Universal Student Ratings of Instruction:

At the University of Calgary, feedback provided by students through the Universal Student Ratings of Instruction (USRI) survey provides valuable information to help with evaluating instruction, enhancing learning and teaching, and selecting courses (www.ucalgary.ca/usri). Your responses make a difference. Please participate in USRI Surveys.
